The Online Treatment Trial Demystified
Do you have trouble figuring out how a successful intervention was delivered even after reading the published paper?

Dr. Bruce Rollman, Center Director and PI of the Online Treatment Trial published in this month's JAMA Psychiatry hopes to demystify his team's interventions using podcasts.

Listen to OT Trial Podcasts on SoundCloud here.

Listen to Dr. Chip Reynolds, Distinguished Professor of Psychiatry, interview OT care managers, Amy Anderson and Christopher Wiltrot, on how they engaged depressed and anxious primary care patients with the Beating the Blues computerized cognitive behavioral therapy program, study Internet support group, and much more.
Visit the OT Trial website to listen to the full playlist of podcasts here.
